SCHOOL REPORT.

I have the honor of submitting the following report of the condition of schools in town the past year.

DISTRICT NUMBER ONE.

Summer term taught by Miss Frankie A. Robbins. This, Miss Robbins' first term as teacher, was highly successful. By her amiable manners, she endeared herself to her pupils, who made excellent progress in all branches attended to.

The winter term was taught by Fred E. Sargent. While commendable improvement was made by some of the scholars, as a whole the school was not very good, it being somewhat lax in discipline and not sufficiently accurate and thorough in instruction.

DISTRICT NUMBER TWO.

The three terms in this district were taught by Miss Mary E. Bailey. Energetic and faithful labor on the part of the teacher, with respectful obedience and diligence of the scholars, resulted in rapid and thorough progress.

DISTRICT NUMBER THREE.

Miss Carrie P. Watson teacher. The course of instruction by this teacher was methodical and thorough. And she has a rare faculty of interesting her pupils in their studies, which is very essential in so small a school.

DISTRICT NUMBER FOUR.

Summer and fall terms taught by Miss Abby M. Todd. Kind, firm and energetic, the teacher was admirably adapted to this school, which she succeeded in bringing to a high state of perfection.

Winter term I. B. Pattee teacher. When this school was first visited we were apprehensive that it might not be very successful; but at the close we were glad to notice that a marked improvement had been made. The pupils are generally intelligent, and among them are many fine scholars. The school was prolonged two weeks by subscription.

DISTRICT NUMBER FIVE.

Summer, Miss Phebe M. Fellows teacher. This teacher was faithful, and the scholars respectful and studious. Good progress in all studies.

The second term was taught by Miss Jennie F. French, who labored successfully for the interest of the school. The greatest improvement made was in reading.

DISTRICT NUMBER SIX.

The two terms in this district, taught by Miss Emma L. Collins, were highly successful. Good order was observed, and fair progress in all branches made.

DISTRICT NUMBER SEVEN.

Summer term, Miss Emma E. Little teacher. This was Miss Little's first experience in teaching. She labored faithfully for the advancement of her pupils, and her efforts were crowned with fair success.

Winter term taught by Miss Mary A. Robinson. The selection of this teacher for the winter term was fortunate. The school was quiet and orderly, and in all respects good.

DISTRICT NUMBER EIGHT.

Miss Annette Andrews teacher. When visited near its commencement, this school gave evidence of decided success. On account of anticipated sickness among the scholars, the school was unexpectedly, if not unwisely, closed. The teacher reports fair progress.

DISTRICT NUMBER NINE.

The first term, taught by Miss Abbie A. Peaslee, was successful. Thorough progress in all branches. The same teacher in fall term, after four weeks was obliged to leave in consequence of ill-health.

In the winter term, Miss Abby M. Todd fully sustained her reputation as a skillful and efficient teacher.

DISTRICT NUMBER TEN.

Miss Nellie I. Annis teacher first term. This school appeared very well when visited near its commencement. As it closed sooner than was expected it was not visited again.

Fall and winter terms taught by Miss Nellie M. Eaton. Order good. Progress in various branches fair. Closing examination exercises interesting.

DISTRICT NUMBER ELEVEN.

Miss Mattie L. Pingree teacher. Miss Pingree, in this her first effort in teaching, evinced a talent for the duties of the school room. The few scholars under her charge were punctual and regular in attendance, and made good progress in their studies.

DISTRICT NUMBER THIRTEEN.

First term Miss Sarah D. Page teacher. When visited near its commencement this school did not exhibit the elements of success. The teacher seemed to lack energy and literary accuracy, and the scholars were becoming listless and indifferent. The committee not being seasonably notified of its close, the school was visited but once.

Winter term, taught by Miss Inez D. Nelson, appeared well when visited near the beginning. We have no means of judging of the school further as we were not notified of its close.

DISTRICT NUMBER FOURTEEN.

The one term in this district, taught by Mrs. I. Frank Roby, was as successful as could reasonably be expected under the circumstances. The scholars, from various causes, were irregular in attendance. The teacher was competent and faithful, and the scholars, regularly attending, made good improvement.
